NAGARA Membership Categories: Effective January 1, 2015

- Institution/Group: $200

  This membership category is open to Federal, state, territory, and local government institutions, agencies or units responsible for, or with a strong interest in archives, records and information management. Membership includes three contacts; additional contacts may be added to the group membership at a discounted rate of $50 per contact.

- Individual: $75

  This membership category is open to Federal, state, territory, and local government employees, including those in higher education, who are responsible for, or with a strong interest in archives, records and information management. Membership includes one individual membership.

- Student/Retired: $50

  This membership category is open to individuals currently enrolled in a degree-conferring program who are not yet gainfully employed or NAGARA members who have officially retired and are no longer working. Membership includes one individual membership.

- Affiliate: $1,000

  This membership category is open to profit and non-profit organizations, including government entities and higher education institutions, with a strong interest in archives, records and information management and NAGARA and its activities. Membership includes one contact.

- NARA (Special, unadvertised category) - $1200 group membership with $40 Individual memberships

  NARA, being an anomaly, will join at their current group rate of $1200, but rather than include a blanket membership for all NARA employees, the $1200 will subsidize discounted individual memberships for NARA employees. In other words, NARA is using a portion of its dues to off-set the cost of individual memberships that would be paid by their own employees out of pocket. E.g. $1200 to start for 2015 ($10 off-set for 120+ employees) and offer NARA employees to join for $40 for example rather than $75 and see how it goes. In the future, if we find that there are other institutions that have a large number of individuals who wish to join, we may apply this special model in those cases.
